WWDC26 — What Apple Announced

The Biggest OS Update in Apple History

At WWDC26, Apple introduced the most sweeping update across all its operating systems simultaneously. The centerpiece is Liquid Glass — a new visual material that reflects and refracts what's behind it in real time, dynamically adapting to your content across every app and every device. The update spans iOS 27, iPadOS 27, macOS Goldengate, watchOS 27, visionOS 27, and tvOS 27.

Apple Intelligence is now smarter in even more places. Live Translation works automatically in Messages, FaceTime, and Phone calls across 13+ languages — and even through your AirPods. Visual Intelligence expands so you can search, ask questions, and take action on anything visible on your iPhone screen, without switching apps.

iPad gets a completely reimagined windowing system with free-floating, resizable windows and a new Exposé view. Mac's Spotlight receives its biggest-ever update — hundreds of keyboard-driven actions without lifting your hands. Apple Watch adds Notes and the AI-powered Workout Buddy. Call Screening and Hold Assist give iPhone users unprecedented control over their communications.

Key Features — All Systems

Liquid Glass Design

A translucent material refracts your wallpaper live across apps, icons, Lock Screen, and controls on every device.

Visual Intelligence

Point at anything on your screen to search, ask questions, or take action — powered by Apple Intelligence.

iPhone

iPad Windowing

Free-floating, resizable windows with a new Exposé view — a desktop-class multitasking experience on iPad.

iPad

Call Screening

Unknown callers are auto-screened before ringing you — they must state their name and reason first.

iPhone · iPad · Mac · Watch

Hold Assist

The Phone app waits on hold for you and notifies you the moment a live agent picks up.

iPhone · iPad · Mac · Watch

Spotlight Supercharged

Hundreds of new actions — send messages, set timers, search files — all without lifting your hands off the keyboard.

Mac

Files App Revamped

Color folders, collapsible views, resizable columns, and per-filetype default app assignments.

iPhone · iPad

Workout Buddy

AI-generated, trainer-voiced personalized pep talks based on your fitness history via Apple Fitness+.

Apple Watch

Notes on Apple Watch

Create and view notes right on your wrist. Dictate to Siri on the go.

Apple Watch

Maps Preferred Routes

Maps learns your commute and alerts you to major delays before you even leave home.

Tip of the Month

Get Ready for iOS 27 & macOS Goldengate

- 1 Back up first. Before any major OS update, do a full iCloud or local backup of your iPhone, iPad, and Mac. Takes minutes — saves hours.
- 2 Join the public beta at beta.apple.com (available late June). Always test on a secondary device, never your primary iPhone or work Mac.
- 3 Explore Liquid Glass — once installed, go to Settings → Wallpaper & Appearance to see how the new design adapts dynamically to your photo wallpaper.
- 4 Enable Live Translation — go to Settings → General → Language & Region and set your preferred translation language before your first translated call.
- 5 Master the new Spotlight on Mac — press ⌘ Space and discover hundreds of new actions available without leaving the search bar.

iOS 27 and macOS Goldengate are expected for public release in Fall 2026. All features are based on Apple's WWDC26 announcements and subject to change.
